Babst Calland recently named Tiffany M. Arbaugh, Alexandra G. Farone and Stefanie Pitcavage Mekilo shareholders.

Tiffany Arbaugh practices in the Firm's Charleston, W.Va. office and is a member of the Energy and Natural Resources and Litigation groups. Tiffany has more than twenty years of experience and focuses her practice on representing corporations in a variety of litigation matters with an emphasis in corporate transactions and all facets of energy-related litigation including mineral title, real estate, trespass, fraud, title curative, personal injury and toxic torts. Her practice also includes advising clients in customary business operations, litigation avoidance strategies and litigation preparedness. Tiffany is a 2005 graduate of Appalachian School of Law.

Alexandra Farone practices in the Firm's Pittsburgh, Pa. office and is a member of the Employment and Labor, Litigation, and Emerging Technologies groups. Alex has extensive experience advising and representing corporate, technology, municipal, and energy clients in employment and labor law and complex commercial litigation. Her practice includes comprehensive human resources counseling and litigation for employers ranging from Fortune 500 companies and startups to municipalities, police departments, family-owned businesses, healthcare providers, financial services and technology companies. She advises on restrictive covenants, discrimination and harassment, disability accommodation, grievances, personnel best practices, contract negotiations, wage and hour issues, and collective bargaining, and litigates matters involving complex commercial disputes, trade secrets, employment discrimination, restrictive covenants, product liability, and toxic torts. Alex also has additional experience litigating matters concerning technology, insurance, construction, class actions, maritime, environmental, and oil and gas law. She is a 2017 graduate of the University of Pittsburgh School of Law.

Stefanie Pitcavage Mekilo practices in the Firm's Harrisburg, Pa. office. Stefanie is a civil litigator who draws on more than a decade of trial-court experience in the federal judiciary to guide clients through all aspects of the litigation process. She focuses her practice on complex commercial litigation, environmental litigation, and energy litigation, regularly representing businesses in high-stakes disputes in state and federal courts throughout the country. Stefanie also represents clients before state and federal agencies and in proceedings seeking judicial review of agency action in state and federal courts. In addition, she has extensive experience with disputes involving breach of restrictive covenants; breach of fiduciary duties, tortious interference, and related business tort claims; employment discrimination; civil and constitutional rights; and emergency injunction litigation, as well as in the areas of antitrust, securities, trademark infringement, product liability, class action, and multidistrict litigation. Stefanie is a 2011 graduate of Widener University Commonwealth Law School.
